Sporting philosophy / motto	"Playing sport is a beautiful thing - when you train, when you go for a run, but also when you go for a walk you feel better both physically and mentally. When it becomes your job, it probably gets harder because pressures begin that you did not have before, but the satisfaction when you get the important results is priceless. Fencing has given me so much in terms of both personal and professional growth. With fencing I have improved and understood many parts of my character. When you get on the platform and you can only count on yourself, all sides of your character come out and you have to know how to manage them well." (tuttosanita.com, 30 Jan 2022)
